

HOUSE VOTES TO SAVE C. A. A. FROM HOPKINS' RULE

Members Against Order of President, 232 to 153 on Roll

Washington, May 8.—(AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate today a resolution rejecting President Roosevelt's fourth government reorganization order, which would place the Civil Aeronautics Authority in the commerce department.

The resolution was approved by the roll call vote of 232 to 153.

The order, which would also abolish the safety board of the CAA, will become operative next month unless the senate also approves the legislation.

Roosevelt announced April 11 that he had decided upon several changes in the makeup of government agencies and departments. Congressional opposition developed immediately to one portion which would shift the CAA from an independent agency to a bureau under Secretary of Commerce Hopkins.

About 75 Democrats voted with a solid Republican membership for nullification of the reorganization order.

The senate reorganization committee postponed study of a proposal to kill the order until after the house acted.

Farm Funds Next

Meanwhile, the senate judiciary committee recommended early consideration of the house-approved Logan-Walter bill to facilitate judicial review of the decisions of federal administrative agencies.

Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala) announced that immediately after the reorganization vote, the house would discuss the bitterly-disputed subject of 1941 farm appropriations.

Farm-state members have been seeking support for senate additions of about $300,000,000 to the $713,000,000 house bill.

House debate over the CAA transfer yesterday centered on the agency's air safety board, which would be abolished and its functions transferred to the central authority.

Rep. Warren (D-NC) described the safety board as "one of the rottenest and one of the worst administered messes" in government. Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) countered with the statement that the organization would place the central authority in the position of being "judge, prosecutor and jury" and that it would not vote to "hurt itself" in investigating accidents.

Plea for Nelson- Dixon Road Taken to County Board

Attorney James E. Bales accompanied a delegation of property owners living west of Dixon on the Rock Island road and residents of Nelson, who appeared before the board of supervisors today to enlist the assistance of the county in providing a suitable all-season road between Dixon and Nelson. The delegation was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. B. H. Veith, Mrs. E. H. Bremer, A. C. Higby and Henry Duffy.

Attorney Bales explained the necessity for improved road conditions between Nelson and Dixon to provide a travelable road to the county seat, insisting that such an improvement was more essential than building a spur highway to take traffic into Whiteside county. Each of the members of the delegation addressed the board and asked for an improved road between Nelson and Dixon.

Supervisor John Emmitt of Nelson township presented a motion which would refer the request to the road and bridge committee for investigation, which was the action of the board.

CHEERING WORD

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—Director Thomas J. Lynch of the Illinois conservation department had a cheering word for fishermen today. He said prospects are bright for an "excellent season" and that veteran fishermen along the Illinois river had reported unusual number of anglers enjoying good catches.

REDS AND BUCS SWAP

Pittsburgh, May 8.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today traded outfielder Johnny Rizzo to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Vince DiMaggio, one of the three ball-playing DiMaggio brothers. It was a straight player transaction with no cash involved.

Urbana, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—The 1940 edition of the "Illio", annual yearbook of the University of Illinois, was distributed today. It was the largest edition in seven years. The book contains more than 600 pages.

Investigation of Nudelman Sought in Two Motions

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—Two proposals by Republican state senators to establish five-man committees to investigate activities of Finance Director S. L. Nudelman were before the Democratic-controlled upper house today.

Sponsors of both resolutions failed to obtain immediate consideration and the measures were relegated to the president's table for action after the legislature reconvenes.

Senator R. G. Crisenberry of Murphysboro accused the finance director in his resolution of having "refused to honor" a $30,000 appropriation made at the last regular session "for the support and maintenance of the Southern Illinois State Normal University at Carbondale."

In introducing the resolution, Crisenberry accused Nudelman of exercising "his super-veto" on a law "that had been signed by our governor." He said that the funds were not paid to the university despite "an acute financial situation" in the institution.

Gunning's Accusation
Senator Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton said in another resolution that the department of finance "in its administration of provisions of the motor fuel tax law relating to refunds, had adopted an unjust, dictatorial and arrogant attitude resulting in unwarranted penalizing" of persons seeking refunds.

Gunning said an erasure of one voucher was considered by the finance department grounds for refusal to pay "all vouchers of a claimant, regardless of their number or amounts." The Princeton senator said that many of his constituents had complained of inability to obtain gas tax refunds on fuel they bought for farm use. The Republican controlled house "economy" committee met today in executive session to decide upon its next moves while both branches of the legislature entered a two-week recess.

Members of the committee, headed by Rep. Clinton Searle (R-Rock Island), said several hearings probably would be held before the assembly re-convenes May 21. Thus far, the Searle committee probe into state financial activity has seen two hearings with Nudelman as the only witness.

Chicagoan Slated for Chairmanship of Dem. Committee

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—Election of Arthur A. Sullivan, attorney for the Cook county Democratic central committee, as state Democratic chairman appeared assured today as party state committee agreed in a caucus to give the post to a Chicagoan man.

Sullivan, 39, and a member of the committee since February, is the only avowed candidate for the chairmanship from Cook county.

Joseph E. Knight, Democratic committee secretary, said committee members at the caucus agreed unanimously to elect a cook county resident to the chairmanship. Previously the name of John J. Hallahan of East St. Louis, director of the state department of registration and education, had been mentioned for the post.

The committee meets this afternoon to elect a new chairman to take the place of Harry E. Hershey of Taylorville, the Democratic nominee for governor. Hershey resigned last February to campaign for the nomination and James J. Sullivan of Chicago served as acting chairman until the election today.

If named by the committee, Sullivan will be the first Chicagoan to be elected chairman of the Democratic state central committee in over 30 years.

Shelbyville Enjoys Pay Day on Big Scale; Nearly Everyone Gets Check

Shelbyville, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—It was pay day on the grand scale in Shelbyville today.

Some member of nearly every family in this city of 3,500 benefited by the payment to 419 employees of $19,183 in back wages by the community's largest factory, Sta-Rite Ginnie-Lou, Inc., manufacturers of hairpins and bobby pins.

Merchants expecting a sudden buying boom made special arrangements to cash checks of the workers, mostly women and girls, receiving the back payments distributed under supervision of the wage and hour division.

Thomas O'Malley of Chicago, regional director for the division, said the payments averaged $129 for 150 home workers and $15 for the factory workers. Individual amounts were as high as $250.

Eighth Fatality in Lee Co. Traffic Accidents This Year

Ray W. Conlin, Oak Park salesman, Tuesday afternoon became the eighth fatality resulting from Lee county traffic accidents this year. He lost control of his car while approaching the intersections of routes 330 and U. S. 30 at the southeastern city limits and it continued on into Poplar street, turning upside down in a 15-foot drainage ditch.

Left, Conlin, who is believed to have suffered a heart attack just before the fatal accident, is being carried from the scene to a waiting ambulance. He was dead when the ambulance reached the hospital.

Arthur Beard, Out of Jail Tuesday, Back Again Today

Arthur Beard of this city was being held in the county jail today on two charges, having been arrested last evening at 6 o'clock at the Lee county home near Eldena by deputies from the sheriff's office. Beard was released from the county jail Tuesday morning after having served 41 days on a disorderly conduct charge.

Fire Chief Sam Cramer swore out a warrant today in the court of Police Magistrate James E. Bales charging Beard with arson, in connection with the burning of a house trailer belonging to Harry Miller on Lincoln avenue south of Ninth street yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock. Deputy State Fire Marshal Arthur Sagana arrived in Dixon from Rockford at noon at Chief Cramer's request to assist in the investigation.

The fire department was called yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock to extinguish a blaze which practically demolished Miller's house trailer and its contents. Chief Cramer launched an investigation immediately after the fire was extinguished and last evening learned that Beard had been arrested at the county home by deputies and requested his detention until an arson charge was filed.

Beard was said to have gone to the county home, where his aged mother is an inmate, and during his visit to have created a disturbance which resulted in the sheriff's deputies being summoned.

Radio and Movies Have Not Injured Newspapers

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—Reader interest in newspapers has not been reduced by radio or motion pictures, an advertising executive told publishers and representatives attending the annual convention of the Illinois Daily Newspaper Markets.

Frederick Dickinson, Chicago, western manager of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, described surveys which he said proved that newspapers now are more widely and thoroughly read than ever before.

War news is a big factor in current newspaper interest, Dickinson said, adding that sustained reader interest in any particular newspaper depends upon attractive presentation of advertising as well as of editorial content.

TRAFFIC FATALITY

Chicago, May 8.—(AP)—Patrick Newell, 48, of Chicago was killed and two companions were injured today when the automobile collided with a truck at 26th and LaSalle streets.

The truck driver, Walter Bankaitis, 55, of Union Mills, Ind., was arrested. Policeman Charles Fitzgerald said, after a long chase by another motorist and a police squad.

Neighborliness

During the three weeks that John McGuire, a farmer living south of Rock Falls, lay in a Sterling hospital receiving treatment for blood poisoning, he couldn't help but wonder how he ever would get his spring farm work accomplished. He got his answer Monday when he returned home from the hospital and found 20 tractors busy plowing. Neighbors, who had gone to his rescue, also will do the planting.

Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roberts gathered at the couple's farm home on Monday with tractors and teams to plow the fields for Mr. Roberts, who has been ill. The women served a basket dinner for Mrs. Roberts, who has also been ill. Those assisting with the work were Mrs. Rose Kant and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sternick, and son Leroy, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Biasos and daughter Bernice, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Groth.

Heart Attack Is Thought Cause of Accident Tuesday

At the inquest conducted by Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, coroner, at the Jones funeral home today, a jury found that Ray W. Conlin of Oak Park met his death yesterday afternoon from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. His was the eighth death from automobile accidents in Lee county this year. Conlin, prominent in Masonic circles in Oak Park, was on a business trip to Sterling and he drove into Dixon on route 330 at about 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, it is believed that he suffered a heart attack, losing control of his car.

The machine continued west after crossing the junction with route 52 at Poplar street, tore down several fence posts and dived head long into a 15 foot storm water ditch. The machine struck the west bank of the ditch, rolling the car over on its top.

James Kerkey, Glen Shaver and Motorcycle Officer Frank Tyne testified at the inquest today. Kerkey stated that he saw the car after it had crossed Chicago avenue and said it continued slowly westward until it crashed into the ditch. He and Shaver were the first to reach the scene of the accident and after righting the machine on its wheels, with other assistance they removed the body and carried it to the roadway where it later was placed in an ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Died Enroute to Hospital
The victim of the crash had expired before reaching the hospital and Coroner Segner ordered removal of the body to the Jones funeral home.

The deceased was a member of Fair Oaks lodge, A. F. & A. M., the White Shrine of Jerusalem and Siloam Commandery, Knights Templar of Oak Park and of Medinah Temple, Chicago. He was also a charter member of the Quarterback club of Oak Park, an organization of former athletes and sports fans.

Surviving him are his widow; one son Raymond of 1047 North Oak Park avenue, and a brother Harley L. Conlin of Lombard, who came to Dixon today to take charge of the remains. At the close of the inquest the body was taken to Oak Park where interment is to be made.

Prohibition Party's Convention is Opened

Chicago, May 8.—(AP)—Key-note Speaker Claude A. Watson of Los Angeles opened the Prohibition party's national convention today with an appeal for a coalition of the "Christian and patriotic forces" of the nation.

"The Prohibition party," he said, "makes an appeal for a realignment of the voters in a political party committed to Christian ethics and morality in government to maintain this nation as a Christian nation."

Watson, temporary chairman of the three-day convention, asserted that the major parties offered no hope that they could solve present-day problems.

"Most thinking people are coming to the conclusion that neither the Republican nor Democratic parties can get the United States out of the present mess," he declared in his prepared manuscript.

Chamberlain Called on to Resign by Britain's World War Lloyd George

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

I have compiled a little biographical sketch which may (or may not) shed light on the English failure in the battle of Norway, but in any event it helps explain the onslaught against the government in the House of Commons. My store is in six chapters, and I call it "The Prime Minister's Thumb".

Not to be mysterious, it has to do with British Premier Chamberlain's thumb, which would seem to have left its imprint (but maybe didn't) on the pages of 36 days of burning history. Future finger-print experts will have to settle that point.

The biography really is comprised of extracts from my diary, and it unfolds as follows:

Chapter I
London, April 3—Britain's aging but agile Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, today bowed to

Embalmers Force Reconsideration of Plans by GOP

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(AP)—Members of the Democratic state central committee assembled today to elect a new state chairman while Illinois Republican leaders faced the possibility of having to set a new date for their state convention.

John J. Hallahan of East St. Louis and Arthur A. Sullivan of Chicago, were among prospective candidates for the Democratic chairmanship to succeed Harry B. Hershey of Taylorville, the party nominee for governor. The Democratic state committee met this afternoon.

Republican leaders were wondering if they would have to change their convention date, announced last week as June 7, after discovering that the state armory here previously had been leased for that date.

Adjutant General L. V. Regan of the National Guard said the Illinois Funeral Directors & Embalmers' Association had engaged the armory auditorium for their annual convention June 3 to 7. General Regan said he had so informed GOP leaders prior to announcement of the Republican meeting date.

The funeral directors' organization, Regan said, leased the armory early last December for its June meeting.

The Republican state central committee meets here tomorrow to organize and may decide at that time what to do about the conflict.

Democratic committeemen, in their meeting today, also were to decide on a date for their convention to draft a fall campaign platform, nominate delegates at large to the national convention and nominate three candidates for University of Illinois trustee.

$2,400 Bank Robbery in Indiana This Morning

Peru, Ind., May 8.—(AP)—A well-dressed man about 25 held up the Denver branch of the Wash Valley Trust company at Denver, seven miles north of Peru, and escaped with approximately $2,400 today.

Ethel Musselman, 21, assistant cashier, said the man threatened her with a revolver, forced her to hand over all the cash from the open vault, locked her in a room and fled.

Persons who saw the robber leave the bank said he entered a Peru taxicab, which they believed was occupied by another man besides the driver.

State police set up blockades of roads in the vicinity of Peru but found no immediate trace of the robber.

BULLETIN

London, May 8.—(AP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that six British naval trawlers had been lost during the allied armies' withdrawal from the Trondheim area in Norway.

Two of the trawlers sank after air attacks. The other four were so damaged by air raiders that it was thought not advisable for them to attempt to cross the North sea and they were sunk by the British.

(By The Associated Press)

An aroused British Labor party demanded the downfall of Prime Minister Chamberlain's government with a "no confidence" motion in the House of Commons today as war nerves frayed even more sharply through southeast Europe.

Pope Pius XII voiced his fears that the conflict now stalemated on the Siegfried-Magnot line and sputtering in Arctic Norway was doomed to spread; and, across the Adriatic sea from Italy, Yugoslavia dreaded the possibility of a double-barreled onslaught from the Rome-Berlin axis.

In London, Herbert Morrison, Labor leader and so-called "Prime Minister of London", accused Prime Minister Chamberlain of using the highly popular Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty as a "shield" for the government's weaknesses and of putting Churchill "in a shop window" to stave off criticism. He said Chamberlain and his inner circle of ministers lacked courage.

David Lloyd George, World War prime minister, demanded that Chamberlain resign as the "greatest contribution" possible to victory.

Accepts Challenge

The 71-year-old prime minister leaped to his feet to "welcome" Morrison's challenge, declaring:

"We shall see who is with us and who is against us. No government can prosecute the war efficiently unless it has public and parliamentary support."

Vigorously following up the Labor party's attack on Chamberlain's conduct of the war—notably the allies' stunning defeat in central Norway—Morrison declared that without a change of government "we run a grave risk of losing this war."

"Shocking ineptitude" was the rallying cry of the Chamberlain opposition but it may be—as predicted in some London parliamentary quarters—that Great Britain, plagued by fresh fears of spreading war, will choose to "muddle through" with Chamberlain, for the present at least.

Europe's greatest tension was in the Netherlands and in the southeast.

Dutch Tighten Defense
In great suspense over the "increasingly uncertain" international situation, the Netherlands tightened her defenses to the utmost following the cutting off of telephone communications with the outside world during the night.

Rumors and reports flew thick and fast about what might be impending for the little low country.

A New York source, closely in touch with Europe, said there were reports of one column of German troops moving toward the Dutch

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clatworthy and Mrs. Will Deitz returned home from Iowa City on Saturday where they were called by the death of Mrs. Clatworthy's sister, Mrs. Henry Junk.

Mrs. Junk, 81, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Verna C. Hicks, 103 1/2 West Burlington street with whom she had resided for the last year. Mrs. Junk was born Feb. 5, 1859 in Logansport, Ind. She was married Jan. 1, 1879 to William Henry Junk and resided in Dixon for a number of years. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Steindler and Mrs. Hicks of Iowa City and Mrs. Samuel Johnson of San Francisco, Calif.; two sons, William R., of Crockett, Calif.; and Winfield H. of St. Joseph, Mo. Five brothers and four sisters survive, with nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Besides a host of relatives and friends. The funeral was conducted on Friday morning at 10:30 from the Oathout funeral home. Mr. and Mrs. Clatworthy were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Steindler and Mrs. Deitz was an overnight guest of a cousin, Miss Mary Harmesher.

What The
WORSTED-TEX
British Lounge* Model
will do for You

You probably want to know what this British Lounge* Model will do for you personally.

The drawing at the left shows the way nature intended a man to look. Broad above and slim at the waist. Many of us don't look that way and often it's the fault of the clothes we wear.

The British Lounge* Model gives you this type of figure in a perfectly dignified way. It is not in the least extreme and is a gentleman's suit of clothes.

In other words you will have a more athletic figure—you will actually look taller, fuller-chested and slimmer at the hips.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. met on Friday, May 3, at the home of Mrs. Verda Blocher. The president and vice president not being present, the chair was occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Blocher, former president. The meeting opened with singing, "Christ for the World We Sing." Devotions were led by Mrs. Martha Lahman.

Roll call was "Bible quotations on Strong Drink." The business session followed, with some plans discussed for future activities. All Illinois Unions are looking forward in a special way to the national W. C. T. U. convention which is to be held in Chicago August 9-14. This is always a great meeting and we are indeed fortunate to have it so close by.

The program leader for the day, Mrs. Anna S. Buck, then took charge of the program. The general thought of the W. C. T. U. everywhere for this year is that of "home protection", and the program centered largely around this thought, the subject being alcohol education, from the physical, social and character-building viewpoints.

The first part, the physical, was presented by Mrs. Verda Blocher. She spoke especially concerning the matter of nutrition, an important point in the protection of the home and its members. In spite of the fact that the liquor ads would have us believe that alcohol has food value because it is made from fruits and grains, science has proved that the vitamins, the vital and life-giving elements, are destroyed through fermentation and that the effect on the body and the whole physical make-up is destructive.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blocher talked on the subject of social hygiene and liquor and showed very conclusively that society has a large responsibility toward the home in meeting this great question. Like that of war, the condition is a challenge to civilization and must be definitely and wisely met if our homes are to be preserved and protected.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday spoke about character building in a democracy, bringing out the fact that only as youth is influenced and trained in the home, the church and the school, can we expect to have the high type of citizen needed to preserve our democracy.

The hostess served delightful refreshments and a pleasant social period followed. The meeting adjourned to meet June 7, with Mrs. Sadie Blaine.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels, gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10c and 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Any oil-change helps "youthify" your engine... but not like this change to OIL-PLATING

You change to an OIL-PLATED engine by changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented. It goes in like any oil and is priced as low as many. But a costly extra ingredient—created in the laboratory—technically described in the Patent Office—energizes this oil to couple up direct to inner engine surfaces. The connection is as close as that of any plating on your car. A plating is not in the habit of getting wiped away at speed, or of draining down at a standstill, and so that all goes for OIL-PLATING.

Then no matter how long the car stands or runs with Germ Processed oil in the crankcase, the OIL-PLATING stays PLATED UP to its top-most point in each cylinder—fastened up to its job when fluid oil-film couldn't be. You get a great fluid oil-film, mind you, with Germ Processed oil, but in addition you get OIL-PLATING... drain-proof... a fixed defense against the strong assaults of Summer wear. Helping to keep up your engine, OIL-PLATING helps to keep up the level of your Germ Processed oil. Even in an older engine its economy may remind you of "the first year." GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to be danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even strengthen the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

When Time Means Lives

When the Finns were accepting the Russian peace settlement last fall, there were some in America who couldn't see why they did not fight on. The more enthusiastic grandstand warriors on this side of the Atlantic—usually men nicely above any expected draft age—wanted to see the Finnish-Russian war continued, right down to the last Finn.

The British and French withdrawal from south Norway throws some light on that past event. We can now guess just how effective allied aid to Finland would have been, and how long it would have taken to get it on the ground.

The story is that the allies had 50,000 completely-equipped men poised to leap off for Finland as the peace negotiations neared an end, and that this fully-ready force was later dissipated by sending men home to play parcheesi just before the Germans invaded Norway. That was why the British thrust into Norway with 2,000 ill-equipped troops was the best she could do quickly, months after the Finnish aid was announced to be fully ready.

About the only conclusion to be drawn from this is that the Finns, realists to the core, judged correctly just what help they might expect from the allies, especially as it was obvious that any effort to land allied forces in Scandinavia anywhere en route to Finland would have brought instant German attacks. They judged rightly that in spite of their gallant resistance to the Russian machine, they must lose in the long run, in the absence of effective help from either the Swedes, who wouldn't, or the allies, who couldn't provide it.

All this shows how clearly time means lives in a military campaign. Your American grandstand strategist asks, "What has England been doing?" The war signals have been flying since Munich. The war itself dawdled for six months.

The same excuse, perhaps that the U. S. needs to explain why we have utterly failed in the same time to provide the stockpiles of tin, rubber, man-ganese, and other necessary war materials which might be cut off from us if war should spread to the East Indies or the Near East.

We have had the same warnings. We have temporized and fiddled with the problem, buying a little here, a little there. But there is no valid reason why, with two full years' warning the United States should not have gotten together emergency stocks of these materials.

The plan to purchase $50,000,000 worth of Dutch tin is, of course, a step in the right direction but we are pretty slow taking it.

It is easy to criticize British "muddling through". What about our own?

Philippine Immigration

We hope that broad-minded people in Japan will try to understand the action of the Philippine National Assembly in adopting its new quota bill. This sets annual quotas of 500 for every nationality.

It will cut sharply into Japanese and Chinese immigration, and there have been Japanese protests against it. The bill is probably in fact discriminatory, because, though it treats all nationalities alike, only those whose immigration is large will be affected—namely, the Japanese and Chinese.

Yet would the Japanese themselves do any less, faced with the same situation? Suppose hundreds of thousands of Russian immigrants were pouring into Japan each year and had done so for many years, until Japan was faced with the chance of becoming a Russian country by sheer force of numbers? Surely they would be the first to assert the right to govern immigration into their own country as they saw fit.

Surely, too, they will see the justice of granting to a neighbor country a right they would insist on for themselves.

Peace Award in War Time

Pennies contributed by students of the James Monroe high school in New York's Bronx went to buy a beautiful, big two-foot globe.

They gave it to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia University president, "in appreciation of his distinguished contributions to the cause of peace through good will."

Dr. Butler, responding, hoped it would be only a short time "before public opinion of the world takes governments by the throat and compels them to cease the use of force."

That might sound less than 100 per cent peaceful in itself. But at least it is good to know that not every man has lost sight, in the darkness of war times, of the candle of peace.

First in 19 Years

In June an event will occur which has not happened in the United States in 19 years.

A battleship will be launched. Two of them, in fact. They are our first since 1921. Probably, considering the losses to the British fleet in the present European war, the United States now has the world's most powerful navy.

We were in that position once before. At the Washington conference after the World War we proved that we would stop building battleships if others would. We still feel that way. But if others insist, we have no alternative, and the answer is on the ship-ways at Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, May 7—If congress is going to enforce the law and stop executive officials from lobbying, it may also have to arrest the Supreme court. Strongest lobbying job done against the pending Walter-Logan bill was the court decision in the Walsh-Healey case. Mr. Roosevelt himself never did any more apt timing. Since the decision was handed down a week ago by Justice Black, it has been banded about the senate judiciary committee where ear-scratching senators were cogitating over the house measure proposing to codify regulations of government agencies and subject them to court review.

Talking about the unrelated Walsh-Healey case, Justice Black went far enough to appear to rule on the Walter-Logan bill in the following language: "The case before us makes it fitting to remember that the interference of the courts with the performance of the ordinary duties of the executive departments of the government would be productive of nothing but mischief, and we are quite satisfied that such a power was never intended to be given to them."

Senate Leader Barkley decided to do some vigorous leading against the Walter-Logan bill. He rolled up his fist and his wrath before the senate judiciary committee in what some of the committee members at the executive session later described as an impassioned appeal. District attorney's tears rose in his eyes as he pleaded that the justice department's administrative committee be given a chance to report before action was taken.

The speech was voted by all present to have been excellent, so it must have been the warm spring weather or thoughts of home which caused the committee members to gaze out the window unmoved.

Seeing his best Kentucky oratory was of no avail, Barkley thereupon switched from pathos to power and told the committee Roosevelt would veto the bill if it is passed.

The committee still looked out the window, then decided not to interfere with the passage of the bill.

Ten Seconds Interview: Senator Taft, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination: "The best way to stop Dewey is to nominate Taft."

Second best lobbying job lately (and a more effective one) was performed by several dozen commercial air pilots who swarmed down upon congress in their sailing uniforms to protest against the president's move to consolidate the Civil Aeronautics Authority into the political jurisdiction of the commerce department. Calling upon individual legislators, they were really responsible for stirring up current congressional resentment against the order. Their plea: "Air safety would be jeopardized by political administration."

Roosevelt had some reason for his action. He did not choose to mention it in his accusation that those who opposed were ruled by "ignorance, gullibility or politics," but his congressional followers (including Jack Cochran of Missouri) are passing around some of the details, to-wit: The safety board was constantly fighting. The argument started when the chairman was elected by a vote of 2 to 1 and the defeated rival ran to the White House charging unfairness. He was thereupon transferred to another job. An investigation of the squabbling was ordered by the president last year. It lasted three and a half months. Then another inquiry had to be made into the original inquiry.

Congress has already adjourned. These daily sessions you read about are merely the arms and feet of the legislators going through the motions of doing as little business as possible. Their minds adjourned to the political arena some time ago. Unlikely as it sounds, their tongues apparently went also. Hardly a word of comment is heard from either Republican or Democratic members on the hottest popular question of the day, the question of presidential preferences.

This unprecedented silence reflects confusion. Even since the White House fell on Vice President Garner in the primaries, Democratic legislators have made no public commitments to the Roosevelt cause or otherwise because they do not know which public insistence on more initiative in the conduct of the war and made shifts in his cabinet calculated to appease the uneasiness.

Actually the changes managed by the adroit premier are rather superficial, with one notable exception. The people have been clamoring for greater use of the genius of the great Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Mr. Chamberlain has granted them this boon.

Now the prime minister is the big boss of his cabinet and is mighty difficult to move once his mind is made up to a program. However, he lifted his stubborn thumb from the control of affairs and announced in Commons that Mr. Churchill was to have wider activities.

England understands the First Lord is being made director of the war and there is great rejoicing which has spread around the world among friends of the allied cause. The press of many countries are hailing Churchill as man of the hour.

Chapter II London, April 11. This has been a day of tragedy, for in the dark hours before the dawn the Germans invaded unsuspecting Norway.

Premier Chamberlain appeared before a tense House of Commons to inform the members that "His Majesty's government has decided forthwith to extend their full aid to Norway and have intimated that they will fight the war in full association with them."

A great crisis is at hand, but everywhere the people are saying that the new British director of war operations, Winston Churchill, will lead them through and free the Norwegians.

Chapter III London, April 11. There's something peculiar about that purported appointment of Churchill to the post of war director. Mr. Churchill made it clear in the House of Commons today that he himself remains the supreme director of Britain's war effort. It looks as though the prime minister has put his thumb down again.

Chapter IV London, April 16. Premier Chamberlain, speaking before the National Free Church Council, let it be known that he wants to stick to his job until the war is finished.

"The press continually reminds me and me that I have passed three score years and ten (He's 71). Nevertheless my eye is undimmed and my natural forces unabated. I feel encouraged to carry on the task in which I am engaged until our purpose is achieved."

Well, I knew he didn't intend to quit until he had led the Londoners just why he should make this unusual announcement. It almost looks as though he feels that an effort is being made to shove him, Churchill would be his successor, I suppose.

Chapter V London, May 2. The crash has come. Premier Chamberlain disclosed to a shocked and tight-lipped Commons that British troops have been withdrawn from the Andalusian area and that the attempt to take German-held Trondheim from the south has been abandoned.

There's something very wrong somewhere. The drive and genius of Churchill haven't been in evidence at all. I can't believe that he has been directing the Norwegian show. Some more faults in his hand have had the thing in hand.

Chapter VI London, May 7. What a day of accounting. Few prime ministers have weathered such a storm of anger as has been heaped upon the grey head of Mr. Chamberlain because of the Norwegian debacle.

The premier is a fighter and stood his ground, but he has raised his thumb again and announced that hereafter Churchill will supervise military operations from day to day. That presumably means an extension of the First Lord's previous powers. He now will work directly with the chiefs of staff for the army, the navy and the air force.

Maybe I'm wrong but I believe if they would give Churchill leeway he would get results. They still need the sober judgment of Chamberlain as a balance wheel but it's going to take vision and action to win this war.

This may mean a fresh start for the allies.

During her residence here she had endeared her-

Republicans Win In Indiana Over Townsend Rivals

Indianapolis, May 8.—(AP)—Two Republican congressmen rode over opposition of the Townsend old-age pension forces to win re-nomination in Indiana's primary election, incomplete returns showed today.

All the rest of the state's present delegation in the lower House of Congress, some of whom were endorsed by the pension organization, also were apparently renominated in yesterday's primary, which was marked by a comparatively light turnout of voters for presidential-year balloting.

Charles A. Halleck, youthful representative from the Second district, and Dr. George W. Gillie, tall congressman from the Fourth district defeated Townsend-backed opponents decisively to clinch Republican renomination.

The congressional contests, outside of purely local races, held the chief interest in the primary voting. Major party nominees for United States senator, governor and other state offices will be picked in state conventions, delegates to which were selected in the primary.

To date, Senator Sherman Minton, strong new dealer, is unopposed for renomination in the Democratic convention, scheduled for June 27. Raymond E. Willis, Angola editor, and Walter F. Bossert, Liberty lawyer and former Ku Klux Klan leader, are the only announced candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination in the party's convention May 24.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. FARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Sherry lectures her on riding for a rich woman, taking money from her. She leaves Grant, angry and determined to quit his job. Driving across New York, Sherry is afraid they may have an accident, but Pepper Boy, but a friendly motorcycle policeman escorts them to the Holland Tunnel.

CHAPTER XII

Two days later, when the Lone Tree Stable with its one horse rolled through the arched gateway of Churchill Downs, a crowd of reporters and photographers was on hand to greet Sherry.

"Safe trip, Miss Bond? The colt okay?" They crowded around her car, asking question after question. "We've been waiting for you. You're the only girl to have an entry in the Derby this year. Who will ride—?"

"Please!" Sherry begged as they directed her to the stable assigned to her. "Pepper Boy must be unloaded. Let's get him into his stall, first."

Next day Sherry saw herself and Pepper Boy staring out from the front pages, as she ate breakfast in the furnished cottage she had rented for the Derby season. When she went to the stable, Sam was rubbing down the colt. "He be in fine shape, Miss Sherry," he said. "An' Miss Sherry, see that little black boy—he nodded to a youngster standing near—that be Elijah Jones. I knowed his pappy. I done got him for our exercise boy, and he's gonna take Pepper Boy out on the track now—get the kinks out of his leg."

Sherry beckoned to the boy. "Elijah, think you can hold this colt. He's rarin' to go."

"Yes, ma'am, I sho' can." For a mile, Elijah held him. Then they went into a light jog under tight rein. Two furlongs went like a breeze.

Elijah came back, grinning all over. "You got a Derby colt here, Miss Sherry," he exulted.

SAM was cooling Pepper Boy out when Willie Bond and Ted drove up. They had been over to the secretary's office, getting entry sheets, and had seen Pepper Boy's workout. Willie Bond exclaimed admiringly, "The colt's in fine fettle. Now, Sherry," he turned to the girl, opened a condition book: "Here's the very race for Pepper Boy—conditions perfect for him—be a grand workout for the Derby—and we'll pick up $700 or $800. Read it—the race is day after tomorrow."

Sherry read the conditions: "Purse, $800. For three-year-olds which have started not more than twice since January, and which have not won. 120 pounds. One mile and 70 yards."

Then she looked up at Willie Bond: "Think he can do a mile so soon?"

"He better—the Derby at a mile and a quarter will be only eight days off. It's an ideal workout for the big race. Colt's getting on edge."

She nodded. "Then enter him tomorrow. And you'd better look up a jockey."

"Look behind you!" Willie Bond interrupted! "Here's Madden!"

"Thought I better come down," the jockey said as Sherry turned, "and handle the colt in a prep race." He spoke as if it were a settled fact he was to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby.

"The very boy!" Willie Bond said quickly. "We're starting him Friday, Madden. You handle him smartly, bring him in first, and—well, the Derby will be run Saturday week."

"I getcha! Got to go and check in—see you later. And I'll work him out tomorrow—just to see if he's got his speed."

"There's the boy to ride him in the Derby!" Willie Bond was exulting when another figure came around the near end of the stable: a lanky figure in scuffed riding boots, faded breeches, a torn sweater, and an out-of-shape felt hat which sat back jauntily upon his fair head.

Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Olson Arrange Two Bridge Parties

Peach-colored gladioli, daisies, calendulas, and sweetpeas blended their spring hues at the 1 o'clock bridge-luncheon at which Mrs. Robert C. Brewster and Mrs. Lawrence M. Olson were hostessing yesterday at the Brewster home on Second street. Today, these same hostesses were entertaining at a similar affair at Mrs. Olson's home on North Dixon avenue, their guests numbering 16 on both occasions.

Those fortunate in the card games at yesterday's party were Mrs. Merton M. Memler, Mrs. Frank Thomas, and Mrs. Alex Tarnawski. Also playing were Mrs. H. R. Gardner, Mrs. Harold Bowen, Mrs. D. A. Branigan, Mrs. George Bort, Mrs. Orval Gearhart, Mrs. James R. Palmer, Mrs. Gromberg, Mrs. C. C. Rowley, Mrs. William Hardy, Mrs. P. J. Malay, Mrs. D. E. Helmick, Mrs. Albert Ferger, and Miss Ruth Brown.

DIXON VIOLINIST ASSISTS SYMPHONY

Rockford Symphony orchestra's final concert of the season has been announced for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Midway theater. Dean H. Ball of Dixon is one of 23 members of the violin section.

Schubert, Wagner, Sibelius, Bizet and Johann Strauss are represented on the program selected by Director Andreas Fugmann.

COMPLIMENTS MILDRED MCCOY

Mrs. Charles Reeser of Walton entertained with a variety shower on Sunday afternoon, complimenting her sister, Miss Mildred McCoy, who is soon to become the bride of Lloyd Boehle of Steward. Twenty friends of the honoree were included on the guest list.

Games were the afternoon's pastime, and were followed by refreshments.

SCHOOL PICNIC

Students of the Will school and their teacher, Miss Julia Brechon climaxed their year's work with a picnic luncheon and field trip on Friday. Following a picnic at the school, five miles south of the city, the pupils came to Dixon to visit the Public library and the museum, the Lincoln statue, the Lincoln room at the Hotel Nachusa. Afterward, the group formed a theater party.

Students attending included Darlene Leffelman, Lucille, Irene, Harriett and Harry Stahl, and Joy and Gus Brechon.

BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. Orval Gearhart has made reservations for a tea room dinner this evening for members of a bridge club who usually meet for contract on alternate Thursday afternoons. Following their next party in two weeks, the group expects to discontinue their card games until fall.

Great Salt Lake in Utah was discovered in 1824 by James Bridger.

Girl Scout Frolic Is Colorful Event

Senior Girl Scouts with outstanding attendance records were given special recognition during the annual Girl Scout Frolic last evening at the South Central school. A large number of parents and friends turned out for the program, which was presented in the school auditorium under the direction of Miss Kathryn Harrington, Girl Scout director.

Mary Louise Smith, daughter of the Walter Smiths, has never missed a meeting of her troop since becoming a Girl Scout in 1929, and will receive her eighth gold attendance star this year. Other awards reviewed last evening included:

Alice Hintz, who became a Scout in 1929, six silver stars; Nancy Warner, (1929), two silver stars; Evelyn Worsley, (1930), four gold and three silver stars; Elizabeth Warner, (1931), two silver stars; Marilee Burns and Frances Lonergan, (1932), one gold star and one silver star; Betty Reilly, (1934), 1 gold star and 1 silver star; Rena Hopkins, (1935), 1 star; Beatrice Thomas, (1937).

The evening's program, which included folk dancing, music, dramatics, demonstrations and exhibits, was arranged by the Scouts themselves, and presented an interesting insight into Scout activities and projects.

Moving pictures of Camp Ralston were shown by Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McNichols. Mrs. McNichols is commissioner of Dixon Girl Scouts.

Announcement was made that two additional tents are needed for the camp, which will open a six weeks' period on June 23.

DESSERT-BRIDGE
Bridge tables were distributed for two tables when Mrs. Nelson Kirsey of East Fifth street gave a dessert-bridge for her club group yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Harry Newcomer and Mrs. George Scott received score favors in the games, which will be concluded in two weeks with a luncheon at Lovell park.

Music Festival Will Be Given at Mt. Morris

One of the largest County Music Festivals in the midwest will swing into action Friday morning in Mt. Morris, when 800 musicians of Ogle county schools begin rehearsals for a program to be presented at 7:30 o'clock that evening in the Mt. Morris Community high school gymnasium.

Personnel of the orchestra alone consists of 150 members and will be directed by Beth Hower of Forreston, and the chorus of 500 voices will be directed by Vivian Holmes of Oregon. Carl Kronberg of Leaf River, and Arnold Thomas of Mt. Morris.

One of the highlights of the program will be the song, "God Bless America," by the entire ensemble of vocal and instrumental performers. No admission charge will be asked for the performance, and everyone interested is invited to attend. Ample seating space will be available in the gymnasium, with its estimated capacity for an audience of 1,500.

WESLEYAN GIRLS BAN SILK HOSE

Silk stockings were sacrificed and lists of Japan-made products studied at Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington, last week, when university women launched a boycott of their own on imports from Japan because of her aggression in China.

Startled by the warning: "Sacrifice your silk hose now or your sweethearts and sons later," sounded by American missionary Walter H. Judd in a chapel address two weeks ago, the girls voted to ban silk hosiery from the campus.

No penalties—except the knowledge that she is doing her bit to help Japan—will await the girl who breaks the rule and wears silk hose on the campus.

"We know that we can't do much by ourselves," Women's League President Alice Sutter explained, "but we're hoping that other colleges will hear about it and do the same thing."

PLAN TO ATTEND STATE MEETING

At least six members of Dixon Circle, No. 73, Ladies of the G. A. R., expect to attend the organization's state convention which is to convene in Joliet, June 2-5. They include Mrs. Florence Ommen, the department president; Mrs. Marie Hettler, department secretary; Mrs. Cora Etheridge, president of Dixon circle; Mrs. Etta Baker, Mrs. Mabel Dial, and Mrs. Winifred Edous.

At their business meeting on Monday, the circle members agreed to purchase two American flags for the Lincoln grade school, and heard reports of recent flag presentations to Sea Scouts and the Cook school. Six members visited the Cook school, and were special guests at a closing day picnic planned by the students and their teacher.

The circle expects to sponsor a card party on May 16.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON

Mrs. Edwin Rosecrans arranged luncheon for her bi-weekly contract club of 12 today. After dining downtown the group made up three tables for bridge. The final meeting of the club has been set for May 22 at the home of Mrs. Orval Gearhart.

BAKER TENT

Anna Kellogg Baker tent, No. 81, Daughters of Union Veterans, of the Civil War, will meet in the G. A. R. hall at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

Pretty as a Picture in Print

Bette Davis shows a distinguished print afternoon frock from her personal wardrobe. The soft shirring down the front of the blouse is balanced by a rush of fullness to the front of the skirt, which is given a peg-top feeling with the set-in pockets. Her gold colored turban picks up one of the dominant colors in the print.

MISS QUICK WILL ATTEND FESTIVAL AT ALMA MATER

Miss Loda Quick, who was graduated from the Cornell college Conservatory of Music in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, plans to return to her alma mater tomorrow to attend Cornell's forty-second annual May Music Festival. While in Mt. Vernon she will be the guest of Mrs. Grace Wilder, who has visited in Dixon frequently.

Four concerts are included on the three-day program from May 9-11. The first will be given by Josef Hofmann, "world's greatest living pianist." The Friday evening concert will be shared by the Chicago Little Symphony under the direction of Hans Lange, and the Cornell Oratorio society, with four soloists in performances from the difficult Bach B. Minor Mass.

The climax of the Festival will be on Saturday when the Chicago Symphony orchestra plays afternoon and evening concerts—the musicians' 106th and 107th concerts in the 38 years they have made annual trip to Cornell. Dr. Frederick Stock, dean of American conductors, will direct the orchestra.

Handy for a day at the beach or in the country is a pair of folding chairs of lightweight aluminum that fit compactly into a sailcloth carrying case. The legs are curved near the bottom so that they sink into the sand only a few inches and then remain firm. Seats and backs are of colored sailcloth; the aluminum frame is said to be highly resistant to corrosion as well as to smudge and finger marks.

If there is too little wall space to arrange furniture attractively a door which is not absolutely essential could be permanently locked and covered with an appropriate wall hanging. Of, if the room is to be repapered, the door might be blocked in with a plywood panel and papered.

An easy hurry-up dessert is made in a jiffy by spreading sponge layers with jelly and sprinkling plentifully with grated coconut.

Continue Party Series for Miss Alice Crandall

Mrs. Wayne Wolfe and Miss Merriam Deveny trimmed their party tables with spring bouquets, when they entertained last evening with a desert-bridge and linen shower in compliment to a June bride-to-be Miss Alice Crandall. Sixteen friends of Dr. Gene Sullivan's fiancée were invited to the Wolfe home, 1217 First street, for the pre-nuptial courtesy.

Sweetpeas, snapdragons, tulips and roses were combined in bouquets for the tables, where a sweet course was served at 7 o'clock. Ivory tapers were tied with green bows.

Sharing the score favors when the bridge tables were compared were Mrs. Robert Brewster, Miss Crandall, Miss Evelyn Schmidt, and Miss Savilla Palmer. Others circling the tables were Mrs. Mary Riordan, Mrs. Joe Miller, Mrs. Joseph Carr, Mrs. Edmund Gehant, Mrs. E. H. Struhs, and the Misses Esther Barton, Lucille Stauffer, Avis Toot, Camilla Kinsella, Helen Meeks, Lucille Johnson, and Edith Scholl.

Novelties seen in the summer Paris collections—unique straw shoes to wear with cool summer cottons, huge handkerchiefs with printed reminders of wartime restrictions, lacquered safety pins in lieu of buttons, gaily colored silk knitted turbans, hand-knitted stockings of silk and cotton, and tiny, flower-trimmed hats worn rakishly forward or far on the back of the head.

To prevent dangerous falls from skidding rugs, there is a new spongy rubber material available. When placed beneath the carpet, it acts as a firm anchor, its lower surface gripping the floor, the upper clinging to the rug. Also, it is said actually to prolong the life of the floor covering, since it acts as a cushion as well as anchor.

Chamberlain—

border from Bremen and another from Dusseldorf, their destinations Leeuwarden, near the Netherlands northeast coast, and Arnhem, 90 miles southeast of Leeuwarden.

This source pointed out that the troop movements might merely be feints to mask other German moves. The destinations indicated would be valuable air bases for Germany.

Official German sources, however, denied emphatically that German columns were advancing toward the Netherlands frontier.

Southeastern Europe was stirred by reports that Germany had asked Hungary for a right-of-way through her territory for nazi troops.

For Defensive Alliance
At the same time it was said Great Britain was conducting a strong diplomatic campaign to bring the Balkans together in a defensive alliance against any "aggression."

It all lent weight to the growing impression in the Balkans that the European belligerents may have decided on that area as a place to fight out their war.

The official Hungarian news agency, which carried the report of the German request for unhindered passage of her troops through Hungary, added that the report was not verified thus.

Utro, Sofia newspaper regarded as the nazi mouthpiece in Bulgaria, carried a Berlin dispatch saying the axis partners, Germany and Italy, were set to send large armies into southeastern Europe if allied action there became apparent.

Regard Attack 'Imminent'
Another commentary on the Balkan situation was a German news broadcast intercepted in New York which declared the German press "regards an allied attack in southern Europe as imminent."

British and French war councils, this broadcaster said, would put the finishing touches on the alleged plan of attack and then final order orders would go to the allied army assembled in the Near East under French General Maxime Weygand.

As the debate in the British House of Commons entered its second day, it was thought that new war alarms would put a factual basis under the prime minister's warning that further and greater dangers lurk in the war with Germany.

Winston Churchill, sharp-tongued First Lord of the Admiralty, was to sum up the government's case tonight and to answer such criticism as that of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger John Brownlow Keyes, who last night charged the government with "shocking ineptitude" in Norway.

Repercussions of the grave situation abroad were felt in Washington.

Dutch Will Fight Invasion
Dr. A. Doudon, Netherlands minister to the United States, was appointed to act as general paymaster for all Dutch officials in foreign countries "in case of emergency," and at the Dutch legation a spokesman declared, "this means we will fight if we are invaded."

It was announced the United States battle fleet would remain in mid-Pacific instead of returning to west coast bases on schedule, but the fleet commander, Admiral James O. Richardson, said there was no special significance in the decision.

It meant, however, that the fleet would continue operating from its base nearest the Dutch East Indies, regarding which the United States demanded recently a "hands off" policy from Japan and other nations.

In the action still going on in Norway the German high command reported its warplanes made "successful" raids on marching allied troops as well as siege positions around Narvik and claimed new bomb hits on two British cruisers.

King Hunts at New Help
From his secret hiding place, King Haakon VII proclaimed the determination of his government to hold out "until our country is free again," and hinted new help was expected.

It was reported that German planes had mined waters off Narvik where a nazi garrison is under allied siege.

The French reported artillery duels at "various points" on the western front during the night and the Germans said an attack by shock troops on their line south of Saarlautern had been repulsed.

The Soviet Russians government shook up its army command, Klement E. Voroshilov was transferred to the post of assistant chairman of the Council of Commissars and Marshal Semyon Timoshenko installed in his place.

Finland, Russia's recent enemy, denied that Finns had breached the peace treaty of Moscow by sabotage in areas ceded to Russia.

ATTACK IS VITROLIC
London, May 8 (AP)—A labor opposition demand that the House of Commons oust the Chamberlain government, instantly accepted by the prime minister as a challenge to a test of votes, was supported today by David Lloyd George.

Lloyd George, who led Britain to victory in the World War, vehemently denounced the Chamberlain administration for "unintelligent" and "half-hearted" leadership.

Alfred Duff Cooper, former First Lord of the Admiralty in the Chamberlain government and a Conservative member of the House, announced that he would bolt his party to vote against the cabinet.

The issue "is too urgent in war", he said, for "any man to wash his hands like Pontius Pilate and take neither one side nor the other".

Across the Table
In one of the tensely dramatic moments of the debate on Britain's reversal in Norway, the World War leader faced the present war leader across a table on the Commons floor.

Pointing a finger directly at Chamberlain, he said the prime minister had spoken of sacrifice, then added bitterly:

"There is nothing that would contribute more to the cause of victory in this war than that he sacrifice the seals of office".

Lloyd George's heavy fire came after Herbert Morrison, vigorous Labor leader and virtual czar of London's municipal government, had announced a motion for a vote of non-confidence at the end of a bitter speech in which he declared that if Chamberlain and his principal advisers stayed in office "we run a grave risk of losing the war".

Rising quickly after Morrison's motion was introduced, the prime minister declared he and his colleagues "will not be slow to accept their responsibility".

May Ride the Storm
Previously the consensus of parliamentary opinion had been that the Laborites would decide against a "no confidence" motion at this time in view of indications that there was little chance of a breach in the government's large majority.

The new decision means that the bitter two-day debate on the Chamberlain government's conduct of the war will be climaxed by a vote, probably late tonight.

Nevertheless it was believed generally that the cabinet, despite its weakened prestige and the bitterness of criticism the Norwegian setback has evoked, would ride out the storm.

Major Clement R. Attlee, the party leader, presided at the big gathering which decided labor's tactics for the second day of the debate in Commons.

Some Laborites were said to be opposed to forcing a vote since it would rally many government members to support Chamberlain, who is expected to get a "substantial" majority which Laborites say will not accurately reflect the extent of the Commons hostility.

Shaken by Charge
Alarming reports revolving about heightened defense precautions in the neutral Netherlands likely would put a new light on Chamberlain's warning that Great Britain must cautiously be alert against greater dangers in the war with Germany.

The government still was shaken over last night's explosive criticism by an admiral of the fleet, Sir Roger John Brownlow Keyes, national naval hero, who charged "shocking ineptitude" in the Norwegian debacle. He declared that the Admiralty had rejected his appeal to let him storm Trondheim from the sea, a feat which he said might have changed the whole picture of the war.

Against Sir Roger, who, like Chamberlain, is a national Conservative member of parliament, the government today pitted Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, due to speak about 9 P. M. (2 P. M. CST.).

Matter of Third Term Has Dems of Tennessee Stumped

Washington, May 8—(AP)—The third-term question has set Tennessee Democrats up a tree. Already, they have moved back the date of their state convention a couple of weeks.

They are undecided whether to send their delegation to the national convention uninstrued, pledged to President Roosevelt, or instructed for Secretary Hull as a favorite son. The fact that Hull has reiterated that he is not a candidate has not helped them very far toward a decision.

The most cagey of guessers are saying, however, that Tennessee will vote for the president if he is an announced candidate, for Hull if he is not. Few believe now that the president will turn up his hand until after the Republicans have named their man.

Another Republican candidate will step into the ring tonight. He is Colonel Charles H. March, a member of the Federal Trade Commission for upward of a decade.

March journeys out to Litchfield, Minn., to make a speech there before the March-for-President club. He is a native of Minnesota, started off as a lawyer, was attorney for the Great Northern Railway, was mayor of Litchfield and later vice chairman of the Minnesota Safety Commission.

He was chairman of the Minnesota delegations to the Republican national conventions of 1920, 1924 and 1928. He will be 70 this fall.

WHEN DAFFINESS BOYS FALL THEY FALL REAL HARD

Dodgers' Second Defeat of Season is 18-2 Set-back by Cards

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)
Lou Finney, Red Sox—Hit double and three singles to lead way to 6-4 victory over Indians.
The Pearson, Phillies—Shut out Cubs 1-0 on four scattered hits.
Harold Newhouser, Tigers—Kept eight hits by Yankees scattered in winning, 4-2.
Jack Knott and Pete Appleton, White Sox—Combined in five-hit pitching job to beat Athletics, 6-3.
Gee Walker, Senators—Hit a double and three singles, stole a base, scored one run and batted in two others in 6-5 decision over the Browns.
Eddie Miller, Bees—Batted in four runs, including three with a homer, in helping down Pirates, 11-9.
Lon Warneke, Eddie Lake and Johnny Mize, Cardinals—Led victorious assault on Dodgers. Warneke with careful nine-hit pitching and Lake and Mize with two home runs apiece.
Eddie Joost, Reds—Was on scoring end of double steal that tied up game, made two hits and one other run and handled eight chances in the field flawlessly.

One thing you can say about the Brooklyn Dodgers—when they fall they fall hard.
A club capable of winning 11 out of 13 games ordinarily would be expected to get squeezed out of the other two, but not the always-different Dodgers.

Their first flop, after winning nine consecutive games, was 9-1 at Cincinnati and their second was 18-2 yesterday in St. Louis.

It was just one of those days, Hugh Casey, who was the victim in that previous defeat, was on the mound again.

The Cincinnati Reds turned in a 7-6 victory over the New York Giants. Harry Danning hit two homers, one of them with two on in the eighth, to send New York ahead briefly, but then he dropped the ball when the Reds started a double-steal.

Rookie Pearson Star
The Pearson pitched the Phillies to a 1-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs in one of the best hurling shows of the season. He dealt out four widely-spaced hits while Claude Passeau and Vern Olsen of the Cubs allowed five.

The Pittsburgh Pirates were knocked into the National League cellar on the heels of their seventh straight defeat, 11-9, by the Boston Bees. Eddie Miller batted in four runs, including three on a homer, to help lift Boston off the bottom for the first time this year.

The Cardinal powerhouse, short-circuited for weeks, made the right connection and piffht! 20 hits, seven home runs, 49 total bases. The performance tied the National League record for homers in one game and bettered the modern league mark for total bases. Johnny Mize and Rookie Eddie Lake each hit two homers and Stu Martin added one apiece.

It was a rough day for all the New York teams. Joe DiMaggio returned to the Yankees' lineup and didn't do them a bit of good—getting one single in five times at bat. Once he fouled out with the bases loaded.

Yanks Nose Dive
The upshot was that the Detroit Tigers topped the champs, 4-2, for their fourth straight defeat and dropped the once-haughty club in to a tie for last place in the American League. Rookie Harold Newhouser, another southpaw, held the famous sluggers to eight scattered hits before a sprained thumb forced his withdrawal in the ninth.

The Boston Red Sox took the deciding game of their series with Cleveland, 6-4, to shunt the Indians into third place in the American League, a notch below Detroit. Lou Finney got four hits for the Boston charge and Lefty Grove received credit for the victory, although he was batted out of the box for the third straight time.

The Chicago White Sox turned back the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-3, on the joint five-hit pitching effort of Jack Knott and Pete Appleton and the four errors the A's themselves committed.

A wild pitch by John Whitehead with the bases loaded and the score tied gave the Washington Senators their winning run in the tenth inning for a 6-5 verdict over the St. Louis Browns.

Dean Shelled as Starting Pitcher After Four Tries

Chicago, May 8—(AP)—Dizzy Dean is more than a little bit irked at reports that he would quit the Chicago Cubs because he's lost his status as a starting pitcher. The new No. 4 starter on Manager Gabby Hartnett's mound staff is young Ken Raffensberger, who was scheduled to open the series with Brooklyn today.

"I've never been a quitter and I won't quit now," said Dizzy, who has been knocked out of the box three times. In his fourth start he tossed a five-hitter against Cincinnati.

"I don't know where such rumors start," Dean added. "I'm going to keep on working as hard as I can and helping the Cubs in every way I can."

The indications now are that Dean, demoted from a starting role, would be called upon to work as a relief pitcher. Hartnett and his boss, Owner Phil Wrigley, are awaiting developments before making any rash moves in the Dean case.

Free-For-All Race in Three Eye League This Year Seen by the Fans

(By The Associated Press)
The Three Eye League season is only three days old, but already indications point to a free-for-all battle for first division berth.

The eight teams completed first round engagements last night, leaving Springfield as the circuit leader with a record of three victories and no defeats. Three clubs, however, held close to the pace, with Decatur, Clinton and Cedar Rapids each having two victories and one loss on their records. Tonight's schedule called for Clinton and Decatur to meet at Decatur, with Springfield risking its undefeated mark on its home grounds against Cedar Rapids.

Madison goes to Moline for three games and Waterloo to Evansville for a similar engagement. Clinton lost its first game last night, 10 to 5, to Moline. Alvin Montgomery and Ray Olsen accounted for five runs with home runs for Moline in the seventh inning. Swanson pitched Decatur to a 4-0 decision over Decatur, which aided the Blues' cause with five errors.

Springfield shelled three Waterloo pitchers for 12 hits and a 10 to 8 triumph. Cedar Rapids won the odd game of its series with Evansville with a 9-5 victory on 11 hits.

ONE RECORD SET, TWO TIED DURING TUESDAY'S EVENTS

Visiting Sprinters Set New Mark for 220 Yd. Dash on Local Field

Chilly weather and a stiff breeze failed to hamper the athletes of the Sterling and Dixon high schools as they engaged in their annual dual meet at the north side athletic field yesterday afternoon, which resulted in a decisive victory for the guests by a score of 69 1/2 to 43 1/2. One new record was set and two previous marks were tied during the afternoon.

Sterling sprinters set a new record for the 220 yard dash when Fenner led his two fellow students to the tape in 23.1. Ridge and Easley trailing the winner to take all of the points in this event for Sterling. In the 100 yard dash Fenner tied the previous record in 10.2 with Ridge and Breed following him to the tape to score three places for the visitors.

Mantsch of Dixon tossed the shot 50.4 in the field event for a meet record with Sier and Baker of Sterling taking second and third. In the pole vault, A. Homen of Dixon swung over the bar at 10.11 to win this event, then tried for the 11.8 mark when the pole snapped in his third attempt, while spectators cheered at his apparent establishing of a new record. Bogott of Sterling reached a height of 10.9 to take second place and J. Gould of Sterling and P. Homen of Dixon tied for third place honors at 9.10.

Tomorrow is Opening Day at Country Club

All plans have been completed for the men's opening day at the Dixon Country Club. Officials of the club announced that reservations already made for the gala event indicate that well over 100 men will be in attendance.

The festivities arranged include golfing, dinner, movies, songfest and musical entertainment by a professional accordion player, who is a representative of the Wurlitzer company in DeKalb. This artist is acknowledged to be one of the finest accordion players in the nation.

The movies will be golfing in nature. Last minute changes in scheduling have enabled Homer Millard, Pastimes chairman, to book the film of last year's national amateur. He also has bought a rib-tickler entitled "The Golf Bug."

Even if the weather is threatening, there will be enough side entertainment provided by the enterprising committee to make the affair one of the outstanding open day successes. Tickets for the affair may be obtained tomorrow at the clubhouse from Bill and Ann Foster.

Fatality Fails to Delay Trial Runs at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 8—(AP)—The 48 remaining entrants in the Indianapolis motor speedway race 5 mile race will begin eliminations May 18 to determine the 33 starters in the May 30 classic.

Speedway officials announced last night that qualification trials would be held May 18 and 19 and then on succeeding days as necessary.

Under speedway rules the 33 cars running the fastest 10-mile qualifying runs may start the race. To qualify a car must run the 10-miles at an average of at least 110 miles an hour.

If past years can be considered as an accurate indication, no more than 35 to 38 cars actually will attempt to qualify.

One Entrant Killed
One of the 49 entrants in the race, George Bailey of Detroit, was killed and his car destroyed by fire yesterday.

A few hours after the fatal accident two of the favorites for this year's race—Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis and Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif. — were on the track for warm-up runs. Shaw is driving the same Italian-built Maserati in which he won last year's race.

Mays, driving the car which Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., drove last year, unofficially broke the track record for one lap. He wheeled the black-and-white speedster around the track at a speed clocked by stop watches at 132.40 miles an hour. The official track record of 131.75 miles an hour for one lap (2 1/2 miles) was set by Mays last year.

Busy Businessman

Chicago, May 8—(AP)—The busiest businessman in Chicago's sport circles is 16-year-old George Halas.

Everyone knows he's owner, coach and manager of the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League. Besides he owns the Chicago Bruins of pro basketball, operates a wholesale mail order house, a retail jewelry and sporting goods establishment, owns a laundry, a real estate office, a big warehouse.

And now Halas is in the fight business. He bought an interest in the contract of Alvin Allen, 19-year-old negro heavyweight, who has won 11 of 13 professional fights.

Halas says he finds time to sleep rarely more than four hours a night.

Four Golden Days of Racing Open at Pimlico This P. M.

Baltimore, May 8—(AP)—The 26th running of the Dixie Handicap today opened Pimlico's "four golden days" of horse racing, with the peakness of gold lying at the end of the rainbow.

One of the oldest and richest fixtures of the spring season, the $20,000-added Dixie is the traditional curtain-raiser for the Preakness and is decided over the same distance, a mile and three-sixteenths.

The "golden days" designation stems from the fact that Saturday's running will mark the golden jubilee of the Preakness. And, since the Dixie is the daddy of the Preakness, it takes the first bow.

Named for the Dixie were H. C. Hatch's Filisteo, A. C. Bostwick's Belay, Brandwine Stable's Masked General, Barrington Stable's Olympus, Belair Stud's Isolator, Mrs. A. J. Abel's Honey Cloud and W. L. Brann's Aethelwold.

A larger field is expected for the $50,000-added Preakness, which is the second part of call for three-year-old thoroughbreds seeking the "triple crown" of racing.

Gallahadion, the Sir Gallahad colt that scored such a surprising victory for Mrs. Ethel V. Mars in the Kentucky Derby, arrived here yesterday, ready to seek the second leg on the "triple crown" in the Preakness. The Belmont Stakes provides the third leg.

There hasn't been a "triple crown" winner since Sam Riddle's War Admiral reigned in 1937.

Bowling Congress Goes Into Record As Great Success

Detroit, May 8—(AP)—The 40th American Bowling Congress tournament went into the record books today as one of the most successful in the history of the congress.

While no A. B. C. scoring record was broken, the 1940 tournament set a new high in spectator interest by attracting more than 100,000 persons to see some 6,000 teams bombard the pins in the 62-day firing which closed last night. The 30,000 bowlers came from 731 cities.

"Aside from the record entry," said Elmer Baumgartner, A. B. C. secretary, "this tournament is significant in that it established bowling as a spectators' game. Previously it was strictly a competitors' game."

More than 2,500 teams already have made reservations for the 1941 meet in St. Paul and officials said that although a record entry list might be expected it was likely that the attendance mark set here would stand for some time.

New Title Holders
The new champions in the minor events, unchanged by the final firing last night, are:

Doubles—Herb Freitag and Joe Sinke, Chicago, who scored 1,346 for a $600 prize and diamond-studded medals.

Singles—Ray Brown, Terre Haute, Ind., 742 for $500 and a medal.

All-events—Fred Fischer, Buffalo, N. Y., 2,001, an average of 222.3, for $200 and medal.

The Chicago Monarchs won the team championship with a score of 3,047 in the five-man event concluded a day earlier.

A total of $241,000 in cash was divided among the prize winners in the four divisions with 8,876 checks going to the leading scorers.

High finishers in the minor events, with their scores and prizes won, included:

Doubles: Second, Charles Furrow-Louis Smith, Springfield, Ill., 1,336-550; eighth, Vincent Lamb, G. Gehant, ss, 1,303-1,303-372.50.

BEACH SCHOOL PICNIC

The Beach rural district school closed Friday for the summer vacation with a picnic dinner at the school house. Parents of the children and patrons of the district were invited. Miss Alice Huber, of Elgin has been the instructor for the past year.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior class of the Ashton high school presented their annual play, "Life Begins at Sixteen," last Friday evening in the Mills & Petrie Memorial building to a capacity audience. The cast of characters was well chosen and each took his part in a very creditable manner. Much credit is due Miss Louise Rich, the English instructor, who directed the play.

Preceding the play the high school orchestra under the direction of C. H. O'May played several selections. Vocal and instrumental numbers provided entertainment ment between acts.

REYNOLDS W. M. S.

Mrs. Ber' Warner was hostess to the Woman's Missionary society of the Reynolds church on Thursday afternoon at her home. The topic for the afternoon was presented by Mrs. H. C. Farley, who reviewed several chapters from the study book, "Right Here at Home." Mrs. Irvin Becker, the president of the society presided during the brief business meeting. The hostess served lovely refreshments at the close of the meeting.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

One of the outstanding events of the school calendar, the junior-senior banquet will take place on Saturday evening of this week at the Mills and Petrie Memorial building. The members of the senior class, the faculty, members of the school board and their wives, and Mr. and Mrs. Wisman and Mr. and Mrs. Year, will be guests of the juniors at this affair. Committees under the direction of the class adviser, C. H. O'May are completing arrangements for the banquet.

CHAMEN APPOINTED

Recently Mrs. Wallace Clover, president of the Ashton Woman's club appointed the following department chairman and their assistants for the ensuing year. Program chairman, Dorothy Thompson, American Home, Edna Fisher, Helen Calhoun; Education, Ruby Bilderback, Hazel Sward; International Relationship, Elizabeth Stephan, Celeste Scharpf; Literature, Lucile Hart, Gladys Kaecke; Art, Betty Griffith, Ada Wagner; Public Health, Esther Grafton, Mildred Baker, Conservation, Rowena Bresson, Kathryn Schnell; Legislation, Ethel Wagner, Dora Krug; Music, Eunice Vaux, Luella Jennings, Frances Charters, Leila Schade, Helen Attig, Hazel Plum.

TOWN TOPICS

Rev. and Mrs. P. O. Bailey, son, William and daughter, Gail of Elmhurst, accompanied by Richard Bailey and Wallace Yenerich, students at North Central college at Naperville motored to Ashton and attended the senior class play.

Mrs. Charles Hann of Rochelle visited one day last week at the home of her father, Conrad F. Krug and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Sward.

Rival Candidates for Governor for Freedom of Press

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—(AP)—The current importance of a free press in maintaining American democracy was emphasized last night by Illinois' rival candidates for governor in addresses before publishers and representatives of fifty of the state's daily newspapers.

Dwight H. Green, the Republican nominee, and Harry B. Hershey, the Democratic candidate, spoke on the same program at the annual dinner meeting of the Illinois Daily Newspaper Markets.

Green said "we are in the throes of a world chaos outside of America which is fast becoming a threat to the pursuit of democratic principles; it is in fact solidifying the American people in its endeavors to maintain rigidly its democracy, and there is no better way of maintaining it than by newspapers setting a clear and wholesome example of what liberty of the press really means."

Hershey said that "never before has it been so necessary that the American public be accurately informed of happenings in this nation and throughout the world." He added:

"The future of democracy depends upon ability to analyze objectively, reason calmly and judge accurately. In this turbulent period of world affairs, when the once independent nations disappear overnight the newspaper must be the sentry which keeps us advised of every move in every direction."

Cites Two Assaults

Green cited what he described as two attempts by government agencies in recent years to "violate the freedom of the press." He said:

"It was Congressman Bruce Barton who lately brought to light the danger of an appropriation bill for the purpose of inquiring into the methods and cost of distribution."

According to Congressman Barton this was nothing short of an effort to inject the Federal government into the newspaper coffers. As he explained it, there are men in the Federal Trade Commission and in the department of agriculture who want to destroy national advertising in order to destroy the freedom of the American press.

"The other imminent danger is in the charge which we have often heard that the new deal maintains the highest paid propaganda organization that the country has ever had. Two years ago Col. Frank Knox (Chicago Daily News) published a book, 'The New Deal,' in which he said that despite a federal law passed in 1913 which forbids the use of public funds for propaganda without specific appropriation therefor, the Washington propaganda machine has been steadily growing."

Both speakers pictured freedom of newspaper expression also as a strong curb on political corruption.

Right of Criticism

"If we take away the right of the newspapers and magazines to criticize public officials," Hershey said, "we open the door to corrupt and crooked officials to connive with crooked politicians in destroying our democracy."

Discussing his intentions if elected governor, Hershey said the state must "continue to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis" and that "no political organization will dominate my creed, my philosophy or my action as far as good government is concerned."

The Democratic nominee said he favored a convention to revise the state's 1870 constitution describing the revenue article as being "an effective bar to much needed revision of our tax structure."

Green cited as major achievements of the free press in America a list compiled by Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, including:

"The defeat of the Boss Tweed ring, disclosures of municipal looting in San Francisco by the Ruef-Schmitz gang, destruction of the Ku Klux gang, Newton D. Baker's successful defense of a reporter who had been barred from court by a judge in Cleveland; Don R. Mellett's martyrdom in Canton, O.; exposure and routing of the 'Ohio gang'; the defeat of the Minnesota 'razz' law; and the exposure of Mayor Walker of New York."

World's Premiere "Lillian Russell" at Clinton 15th

Governor George A. Wilson of Iowa will head the list of distinguished visitors at the world premiere showing of "Lillian Russell" at Clinton, Iowa, May 15th. Invitations have also been dispatched to Governor Henry Horner of Illinois and Governor Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin.

Upwards of 100,000 people are expected to visit Clinton during the three-day celebration which will be climaxed with the personal appearance of Don Ameche, Binnie Barnes, Cesar Romero and Mary Healy from Hollywood.

Clinton's 27,000 citizens, headed by Mayor Harry F. Pape, are determined to present a premiere that will rival any previous Broadway or Hollywood opening. In this direction the Mayor has proclaimed a three-day celebration starting Monday May 13th. The festivities will be climaxed on Wednesday with the premier showing of the motion picture at the Capitol and Rialto theatres.

Program for Week

Clinton's Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce, acting cooperatively under the direction of Walter Wagner and Frank Haun, have arranged an ambitious schedule of activity for the three-day celebration. Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to street dances, lawn parties, costume contests, beauty contests and a baseball game.

Wednesday's functions will start with the arrival of Don Ameche, Binnie Barnes, Cesar Romero and Mary Healy on the Chicago & Northwestern's new luxury train, the "Treasure Island". This train, coming from Chicago will also carry newspapermen from as far west as Denver.

A depot ceremony of welcome is being planned by N. J. Lehto. After official salutations at the depot there will be a parade of automobiles and horse-drawn carriages to the Clinton Country club where the distinguished guests will be tendered a luncheon.

One Serious Note

The only serious note of the day will be the unveiling of a bronze tablet in Clinton Riverside Park. The movie stars and several members of the commerce group will officiate at this ceremony which is expected to last about one hour.

At 8:15 in the evening the Hollywood celebrities, together with the newspaper representatives, will leave for the Capitol and Rialto theatres to attend the premiere of the picture. The four movie players will be presented from the stage of both theatres.

Color and gaiety will be added to the three-day celebration with the proposed plan to completely redecorate Clinton's main street, Fifth Avenue, so that it will appear as it did fifty years ago. Costumes for men and women of that same period will be worn by the townspeople, giving the city an 1890 flavor.

STAMP NEWS

THE U. S. 3-cent Pan American Union commemorative, honoring the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Union, will be placed on first-day sale at Washington, D. C., on Sunday, April 14. The design is from a painting by Botticelli, depicting the Three Graces with clasped hands, to symbolize the friendship among the nations of North, South and Central America.

The Mark Twain stamp of the Famous Americans series set a new record for first-day sales of a 10-cent stamp. A total of 207,648 stamps was sold and 150,492 covers canceled at Hannibal, Mo., Feb. 13. The Philatelic Agency at Washington, D. C., reported 132,936 Mark Twain stamps sold on Feb. 14.

Six new postage values in two designs have been released by the Netherlands Indies. Three stamps show native scenery, three higher values picture Queen Wilhelmina.
